New! Versa Tuner 1000!!!

It's a new super duper antenna tuner from MFJ!!!

Yes, I know. We have introduced antenna tuners before. But this one is the cat's meow. Yes it's another famous antenna tuner from MFJ but this one . . . has a built in transceiver also, and it's got an electronic keyer, and DSP and RF Hash Eliminator™ and a built-in computer screen that doubles as your television. It is beyond legal limit. It cannot burn up! It's got that famous AirCore™ discombodulator circuit that will have all your girlfriends giddy with excitement. It requires no power. It is a superb investment for the future of amateur radio. It automatically updates itself and firmware to the latest and greatest ham radio software without you having to do a thing. And it is all built in to the super lazy-cliner.

because the shack is right on your back. It also comes with the Super DreamWeaver™ maximum sleep-time breathing machine. No more snoring. You can operate this complete radio station in recliner mode with your eyes closed!!! And if you really never want to leave your radio shack ever again there is an optional disposal system that you can add so that you realistically never have to leave the operating position even in the event of a #1 or a #2. And a pop-up microwave that will cook you everything you could possibly think of. Shrimp and grits? A big juicy steak and lobster tail? You think it and it comes alive before you and you don't even have to stop ragchewing. Amazing? You bet. And it is relatively inexpensive. You just sign your soul away, we will come install it right away. We're waiting

Seriously folks. This is an April Fools Joke. And if you read all the way down here then the joke is on you. But, hey MFJ does have some "mighty fine" (see what I did there?) features in our antenna tuners if you haven't noticed. Nothing like the above, but some mighty fine antenna tuners can certainly be found. Now let's explore the real world shall we?
